

THE TELEGRAPH.

Published daily, except on Sundays and holidays.

Friday Morning, Nov. 5, 1880.

Where is Wade Hampton's address?

Mahoning county gives Garfield a majority of 8,600.

The number of electoral votes that Hancock will get, is likely to be a local matter.

Pennsylvania is Republican by about the same vote as the old Bay State—say about 40, or 50,000.

The average Republican majority in Ohio, by the official returns, is 22,238 in a total of 716,333 votes.

Go away with your 8 to 7 commission! No more Democratic subterfuges. The people are at the helm now.

The colored vote in South Carolina is reported larger than for ten years. They voted solid for the Republican ticket.

Senator Blair, whose voice failed him after his arduous labors in Ohio, cannot yet, it is said, speak much above a whisper.

"Health, wealth and prosperity throughout all our borders; peace, honor and friendship with all the world," is the way to put it.

Wilson—Republican candidate for Governor in Tennessee is badly beaten. Hancock's majority in the state will probably reach 40,000.

That is said to have been a notable speech of Charles Francis Adams, Jr., at Cooper Institute, handing in his allegiance to President Garfield.

There is no question about the election of Grace—the Kelly candidate for Mayor of the city of N. Y. or of the whole Kelly ticket for county officers.

Illinois.—The present majority in this State is estimated at 30,000, though the publicans claim as high as 40,000. The majority in 1876, was nearly 30,000.

James Redpath—an American citizen noted as a newspaper correspondent and something of an agitator in Irish matters, has been, as reported, placed under arrest.

Republican gains are reported in Virginia, Delaware and Maryland. This looks as if the Republicans stuck to their integrity, they will make an available showing in due time.

Winfield Scott, either with or without a Hancock annex, is not a taking name for President, and no one of that name will be subjected again, probably, to the chances of an election.

Chas. Francis Adams, Jr., made a speech at Cooper Institute, New York, on Thursday of last week in which he gave his reasons for voting for the Sage of Mentor. Mr. Adams voted for Tilden four years ago.

Telegrams from Minister Osborne, minister to Chili, and Mr. Christianity, minister to Peru, have been recently received at the State Department announcing the failure of the conference offered by the U. S. Government.

The reflections of J. W. Forney must be anything but pleasant. He has gone into the embrace of Democracy just as it was ready to be put under the gravel, without hope of resurrection.

That pledge of Wade Hampton's, of 138 solid south votes was expected to be a nucleus for his obedient followers to make further additions to. The taint was accepted, a solid north has spoken, and fixed the limitation.

The amount of money paid out by the kindhearted English, by accurate account is just $13,200. This deducted from the $100,000 which had been reluctantly negotiated for the campaign, leaves him ($86,800) in arrears, or default to his party.

"Tariff, tariff!" said General Hancock, drawing his sword sitting a little tighter, "seems to me that they had it in the Second Corps once, but the surgeons soon eradicated it. It was a mere local affair, and did not spread."

The Cincinnati Commercial thinks when the Republicans gain Congress, to divide the State—making the State of Manhattan out of the city of New York and the island, and leaving the great State itself without a ball and chain about its leg.

It is a little grievous that the labor of those 329 chaplains should have been in vain. There falsehood and calumny is a little more mortifying since it has had no effect, and the falsifiers are left—if capable of it—to the contempt of themselves as well as their friends.

Wade Hampton's solid South with its 138 electoral votes, has met a solid North, and gone under. If Wade should not succeed in making himself the bellwether of Southern dogdom it will not be his fault. His assinine range and versatility is beyond parallel.

Cutting remark by the New York Sun. "General Hancock is a man of remarkable dignity and entire truthfulness. He is, in this respect, like Washington, who could not tell a lie. Let it not be forgotten that the qualities which are admirable in a candidate are also admirable in his supporters."

Some of those hickory pole chaps, about town, finding no longer any pleasure in their campaign emblems sought a recompense in the cutting away on Tuesday night—the halcyons of some half a dozen flag stiffs about the village. This is all natural enough, and shows what worthy services they are willing to make themselves, of their Southern masters.

There is a very comfortable prospect—looking from the eye of election day—that the Democrats will be relieved of all their distress about fraud in the choice of President this time. The decision will be decisive enough by the popular vote.

The only fraud that will be charged will be that of defrauding and disfranchising the white and black constitutional voters of the Solid South, of the Republican persuasion.

Gov. Jewell, Chairman of the Republican General Committee, made a mistake in entering into negotiations with the authors and promulgators of the forged Chinese, cheap-labor letter, that in case they would come down and admit their belief in the forgery, he would write a letter to Gen. Garfield commending them to his favorable consideration. This letter was by craft gotten into the hands of the plotters and retained long enough to get a photograph of it, and in this shape was sent out for a new sensation. Though Gen. Garfield is not specially compromised by the transaction, Gov. Jewell's true course was to entertain no advances of the character, but to let things work to their legitimate end—discomfiture, disappointment and contempt.

There never was any logical reason for the nomination of Gen. Hancock by the Democratic party. His crushing defeat is a humiliation which he might have been spared. His only claim to the temporary political distinction which he received was his gallant service in the war, and this distinction was urged upon him by a party whose only political tenet was that the war was a dead and gone issue and that its memories should be buried in fathoms deep. Hancock has proved himself to be a most unfit candidate, whatever may be said of his qualifications as a soldier. But it is certain that even a better candidate than Hancock could not have led the Democratic party to victory. And now that he has been beaten, so ignominiously in the only States which have a moral and reasonable right to make much of a brave Union soldier, he has his mis-placed ambition and his unfortunate associations to thank. Evil company has been the ruin of Hancock.

The campaign that has just closed, and closed so auspiciously for the cause of Republican freedom, will be a memorable one for the ability and power of its arguments and the force of its appeals to the intelligence and patriotism of the people. Most of the speeches have been models of oratory, and in the enthusiasm of the large gatherings that have composed the audiences the effect has been such as is seldom produced. The whole country has been quietly but powerfully enthused by these appeals. The campaign has proved beyond a doubt the marvelous vitality of the principles of the Republican party. Our opponents taunted us with the inability to produce any argument beside that of the "bloody shirt." But how they belied themselves in the nomination through Southern votes. A Union General chosen as a trap to catch the soldier vote, and wash the "bloody shirt" forever. The Republican party took them at their offer, and joined issue on the ground chosen by Democracy itself, and the result is one of the greatest Waterloo defeats of our history. The result is a rout which these simple souls hardly dreamed of. Such an outcome from their well laid plans—the renewal of the lease of power to the natural and fitting national Republican party. Hereafter the Democratic party might as well disband, as by their continuance as a party they will render a service to the Republican party, by furnishing it a weak and easily beaten opposition. That can hardly be considered a sufficient object of those hungry hordes.

ASHTABULA TOWNSHIP.—The vote of Ashtabula township, on Tuesday last was 1984, an increase of 72 votes and the largest vote ever cast. The majority was 172—a falling off of 27 from that of the October election.

The Justice vote of Tuesday stood as follows:

Matteson—Harbo..... 790
Calvin..... 622
Richardson..... 597
Tyler..... 304
Watrous..... 9
Matteson and Calvin elected.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Republicans of Massachusetts have as usual elected Republican Electors and State officers. They have also carried all the Congressional districts but one and may possibly secure that. The doubtful district is the fourth, where by the unofficial returns Leopold Morse, Democrat, appears to be re-elected, but his apparent majority is so small, less than 100, that the official count may give his opponent the office. The majorities cannot be arrived at at this hour, but they will undoubtedly exceed those of four years ago. Old spoons is not in sight.

Maine has revised her action in September and given Garfield 4,000 majority.

New Hampshire returns show such large Republican gains that the result is beyond doubt a Republican majority.

Vermont gives 8,000 majority for Garfield.

Little Rhode has arrayed herself among the proud of the outspoken line of Republican Northern states. Her Republican majority is put at 8,000.

ELECTORS AND REPRESENTATIVES.

From a table made up by the N. Y. Times of the electoral votes of each party, and the numerical strength of each party's state in the House of Representatives in the 47th congress, we give the totals—on the putting of press not allowing the time in type the full table. The number of electors to which the respective candidates are entitled are as follows:

Garfield..... 222 | Hancock..... 147.
Representatives in Congress:
Republicans..... 157 | Democrats..... 131

MASSACHUSETTS.—Morse, the only Democratic Congressman supposed to be elected, is believed to have been beaten by Hayes by about 5 votes. The State rolls up a majority of 50,000.

CONNECTICUT.

Special to Cleveland Herald.

HARTFORD, Nov. 2.—Connecticut has returned from eighty-three out of 168 towns up to 10 p. m. give Republican gains of 3,400 over the Tilden vote in 1876, when he carried the State by 2,000. The towns to hear from are largely in country sections, and will give almost uniform Republican gains. The Democrats concede the State. The prospects are very favorable for the election of Bigelow, Rep. for Governor, by a small majority. The Legislature will be Republican by a majority of about 40, and will elect a Republican successor of Senator Eaton, who is the only Democratic Senator from the New England States. Hartford gives Hancock only 230 majority, a Democratic loss of 700 on the vote of 1876. The Republicans are jubilant, and the streets filled with enthusiastic crowds. A Republican jollification meeting is in progress at the Opera House, and wild with excitement over the favorable news.

The following table exhibits the division of the Electoral College:

The new census gives Chicago a population of over half a million; but the manufacturing statistics just completed by Mr. Charles Randolph, Secretary of the Chicago Board of Trade, and Special Agent of the Census Bureau, are still more remarkable. Chicago, commonly thought of as a great commercial center, handling enormous quantities of raw material on the one hand, and of manufactured merchandise on the other, doing in fact a prodigiously extensive brokerage business for all parts of the country, must now be regarded also as about to become one of the chief manufacturing centers in the Union. Already over 67,000 people are engaged in its various manufacturing industries. The pay-roll amounts to over $30,000,000 annually; over $77,000,000 of capital invested; and the annual product amounts to nearly $250,000,000. And these figures represent only the beginnings of things.

"With John Brown's body lies mouldering in the grave, his soul is marching on," and trampling his enemies in the dust.

NEW JERSEY.—The most emphatically among the doubtful States is reported as having given from four to six thousand Republican majority, a gain of one Congressman, and a legislature which will insure a gain of one U. S. Senator.

Alabama has been more modest in making up her Democratic majority. She has been satisfied with 40,000, generously throwing off 50,000.

A fair day and full vote has given the electoral vote in Nebraska to Garfield, by a Republican majority of $35,000.

The Republicans of Colorado have probably carried the State by increased majority.

MAINE.—A telegram from Augusta to Mentor, says that Garfield will have a handsome majority over all opposition. Garcelon is thus vindicated!

WISCONSIN reports one Congressman gained, and 30,000 Republican majority in the State.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

REV. P. N. GRANGER, President Elder of the St. Albans District, St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, '78.

Dr. J. B. Kendall & Co., Gentlemen: I beg to say that I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of Colic, which was a very bad case. Last season, my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road, he grew worse, when I discovered that a spavin was forming I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him, so that he is now as good as the best horse I have.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.
